To reach Mt. Hiei is nothing compared to climbing Mt. Fuji. Is it true ? Nope. It absolutely requires physical and mental vigor. And please keep in mind that the climate of Mt. Fuji differs completely from one in the city. Insufficient oxygen will cause your body further fatigue. However, at the same time, the precious experience would provide you with more confidence against all things to come. I just wonder whether “blue” is really the same color as the sky.

Mt. Fuji in Summer from Shimizu Port

It was born from the volcano in 1707. 2693m high.
